THE VERTICAL

From Koshi Tappu to Kangchenjunga, this unique biodiversity conservation and learning region will stretch 8km into the sky.

RAJESH GOVAL AND PRIYANKA BISTA

The vertical landscape will house wild and semi-wild species, and a variety of grasses, plants and animals to conserve and rescue those that are facing extinction due to climate change and increased human activity. The region will also house research and the development of various eco-friendly and sustainable activities.

UNIVERSITY

To meet the evolving needs of higher education, Nepal has introduced various new academic programs. A new university in the capital will be established soon, providing opportunities for students to pursue various fields of study.

RUPESH KUMAR KUNAL

The university aims to provide opportunities for students to pursue various fields of study, with a focus on technology, agriculture, and environmental conservation. The university will be located in the heart of Kathmandu, providing easy access to various cultural and educational resources.

Rajesh Goyal

The new academic programs will be designed to cater to the needs of students who wish to pursue careers in various fields, including science, technology, and business. The university will also provide opportunities for students to engage in research and academic projects.

Tsering Sackar

The university will be named after Tsering Sackar, a former Nepali prime minister who was instrumental in establishing various educational institutions in the country. The university will also pay tribute to his legacy by providing opportunities for students to pursue various fields of study.

Rajesh Goyal

The university will be located in the heart of Kathmandu, providing easy access to various cultural and educational resources. The university will also provide opportunities for students to engage in research and academic projects.

Rajesh Goyal

The university will be named after Tsering Sackar, a former Nepali prime minister who was instrumental in establishing various educational institutions in the country. The university will also pay tribute to his legacy by providing opportunities for students to pursue various fields of study.

Rajesh Goyal

The university will be located in the heart of Kathmandu, providing easy access to various cultural and educational resources. The university will also provide opportunities for students to engage in research and academic projects.